Problem Statement: Write a C program to test whether a given identifier is valid or not
AIM: To Write a C program to test whether a given identifier is valid or not.

ALGORITHM / PROCEDURE:

Read the given input string.

Check the initial character of the string is numerical or any special character except '_' then print it is not a valid identifier.

Otherwise print it as valid identifier if remaining characters of string doesn't contains any special characters except '_'.

[Viva Questions]

1. What is identifier?
2. How to declare identifier?
3. What is the necessity of identifier?

Exercise: 1

 1. Write a C program to recognize set of identifier valid or not.